

Wayne Hines Is Chairman Of Board of Commissioners

Pickaway County Commissioners held their organizational meeting Monday, electing Wayne Hines chairman for 1968. He replaced Lloyd Melvin who has held the post for three years.

Mrs. Geneva Brink was reappointed clerk of the board of commissioners for the coming year. The sessions designated 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday as their weekly meeting date except when it is a holiday. In such a case, they will meet on Tuesday.

In other action, non-elected employees under commission jurisdiction were re-employed. They were:

Ralph Leist, fireman; Margaret Hickey, Mary Hill, Richard Carpenter, courthouse custodians; Ralph Wallace, dog warden; Hewitt Cromley, ditch supervisor; Rosemary Davis, photostat operator; Chester Frazier, Memorial Hall janitor; Clara Sampson, janitress of the jail.

EARL Boyer was named civil defense director. Carl Riffle was employed for the year to haul refuse from the courthouse and jail and Larry's Refuse Haulers were named to haul refuse from the apartments on High Street.

Andrew Malyk, Columbus, was appointed apiary (bee) inspector.

The commissioners passed a resolution authorizing the county engineer to proceed with work in his department by force account.

The commissioners also passed a resolution yesterday naming the first meeting of each month as the date animal claims will be settled.

Commissioners Wayne Hines and Charles Morris were present for today's regular session. Lloyd Melvin was absent today due to illness. He is suffering from the flu, commission clerk Mrs. Brink said.

suit against a major hospital, in which the jury awarded a youth $212,500.

IN announcing his candidacy, Judge Ammer declared: "The most serious problem facing courts today is long delays of trials and appeals of cases. These delays cause much hardship. Judges and lawyers should concentrate on crash programs to expedite trials. They should keep pace with social and economic progress in this space age."

Judge Ammer, who claims speed-up of case handling in the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court, pledges to do the same in case appeals, if he is elected to the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

Judge Ammer is a member of a family deeply rooted in Circleville since 1910. His late father, Moses S. Ammer, operated a downtown store for 45 years. The judge was born in Circleville, has been a lifelong resident here, received his degrees at Ohio State University and served for three and one-half years in the Army during World War II.

He has always been active in various civic organizations and projects. He is a member of all Masonic bodies, Eastern Star, Shrine, Knights of Pythias, IOOF, American Legion, Elks, Farm Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, and the Kiwanis Club. He served as a Kiwanis lieutenant governor in 1959.

A member of the Circleville Methodist Church, he has been president of the Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

He is survived by several nieces and nephews.

Services will be 2 p.m. Friday at the Defenbaugh Funeral Home with the Rev. Foster Jenne officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Olive Cemetery, South Perry.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday.

7 Accidents Occur in City Over Holiday

The Circleville Police Department investigated a total of seven accidents over the holiday weekend, but only one involved personal injury.

Wanda Fyffe, 17, 405 Ruth Ave., sustained an injured right arm and shoulder, when her car was struck by a car driven by Gloria McCabe, 27, Route 2.

Mrs. McCabe was westbound on Franklin St. Miss Fyffe pulled from an alley into the path of her car. Both vehicles sustained moderate damage.

Fred E. Greeno lost control of his car on E. Ohio St. 2:05 p.m. Sunday striking a gas meter and severing a 4-inch gas line.

Investigating officer Jack Mills reported the gas was pouring from the line until it was shut off. However, there was no explosion. Greeno was not injured.

The other accidents were of the fender bender variety.

Appliances Stolen from Local Home

A stereo, television, phonograph and other household appliances valued at $532 were taken from the home of Raymond Brungs on the Bolender Pontious Road Saturday.

Brungs told James Lockard of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Office he and his wife had left home at 6:30 p.m. Saturday and returned three hours later to find their house had been entered.

Entry was gained by breaking a window on a southeast door.

Norman J. Holley, Route 1, Ashville, reported Saturday his home had been burglarized of a television set, a record player and $12 plus some personal papers.

DEPUTY Sheriff Warren Straley followed tracks leaving the house to the road when he discovered the stolen articles concealed from view.

Robert Ramey, Route 2, Ashville, reported an unsuccessful attempt was made to enter his service station.

Wayne Brown, Route 1, Groveport, told sheriff's deputies that 250 feet of electric wire was taken from poles leading to a house and a barn on his farm.

Stock List Advances

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced early this afternoon as trading got under way for 1968.

The market was able to weather weakness in international airlines, some of the plane makers, gold mining stocks and selected drugs as it moved ahead on balance.

Gains outnumbered losses by better than 7 to 5 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .41 at 904.70.

Softness in some of the 30 blue chips represented in the average wiped out an early gain and effected the small net loss which was contrary to the general drift of the market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.1 at 323.4 with industrials up 1.2, rails up .8 and utilities up .7.

American Broadcasting plunged 5 to 61 on a delayed opening block of 51,300 shares on news that International Telephone had called off its proposed merger with ABC.

Prices were mostly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Find Man Dead Of Asphyxiation

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 26-year-old man was found dead Monday at a service station in North Olmsted, where he had been employed a short time.

Police said Gregory Moore, Cleveland, apparently was the victim of accidental asphyxiation. The coroner will rule.

LBJ 'War on Dollar Drain' Could Curtail Trips Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration's declared war on the widening gap in the balance of payments would press every American into the defense of the dollar—if Congress goes along.

President Johnson pegged higher taxes as the keystone of a New Year's program he described as "firm and decisive." It incorporates the first mandatory controls U.S. in history on American investment abroad and an appeal to Americans to travel only in this hemisphere if possible.

The investment controls were imposed under existing law. Congress will reconsider later this month Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal. Government officials held out the possibility of further restrictions on travel such as a tax on Americans going overseas or limits on the amount of money they may take with them. Officials said this must be worked out with Congress.

Henry H. Fowler, secretary of the treasury said Americans should realize that travel abroad is damaging to the country.

These were Johnson's main actions and proposals:

—He imposed a set of strict controls over all private investments abroad.

—The Federal Reserve Board was given standby authority to force U.S. banks to cut overseas lending by $500 million in the next 12 months.

—Government agencies were ordered to reduce 1968 spending by $500 million.

—American firms were urged to expand and intensify their foreign sales programs. The Commerce department will launch a $200 million sales-promotion program.

—Legislation to force U.S. firms to bring home their accumulated overseas earnings will be considered.

—Common Market countries were asked to eliminate non-tariff barriers to U.S. imports.

Lima Report Returned on 2 Local Men

The report of Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane on William Arthur Crosby and John Fyffe, convicted of a sex offense with a female under 18 years of age, has been returned to Common Pleas Judge William Ammer.

The report on Fyffe stated he was not mentally ill or a deficient offender. However, it stated he was a psychopathic offender.

The report on Crosby stated he was neither mentally ill, a deficient offender nor a psychopathic offender.

The two men will be returned from Lima for sentencing. A psychopathic offender is one who chronically breaks the law.

Motorist Hurt In 1-Car Mishap

Larry J. Justice, 18, Route 4, was admitted to Berger Hospital for treatment of injuries sustained in an accident 7:15 a.m. Monday on Renick Road.

Justice told Deputy James Lockard of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department he lost control of his car on an icy spot in the road.

His car was heavily damaged. The mishap was the only one of eight investigated by the sheriff's department over the holiday weekend in which a person was injured.

The last seconds are ticking away for Greenwich Mean Time. Britain plans to conform to European time on Feb. 13, 1968, by advancing clocks one hour.

—All Americans were asked not to travel outside the country for the next two years. The President said legislation to restrict travel will be submitted to Congress. More foreign tourists will be sought to visit the United States.

In an executive order, Johnson clamped these specific controls on overseas investments: No new investments will be permitted this year in Western Europe or South Africa. Investments in Britain and non-European developed nations—such as Australia and Canada—will be held to 65 per cent of the 1965-66 average.

LBJ 'War on Dollar Drain' Could Curtail Trips Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration's declared war on the widening gap in the balance of payments would press every American into the defense of the dollar—if Congress goes along.

President Johnson pegged higher taxes as the keystone of a New Year's program he described as "firm and decisive." It incorporates the first mandatory controls U.S. in history on American investment abroad and an appeal to Americans to travel only in this hemisphere if possible.

The investment controls were imposed under existing law. Congress will reconsider later this month Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal.

Government officials held out the possibility of further restrictions on travel such as a tax on Americans going overseas or limits on the amount of money they may take with them. Officials said this must be worked out with Congress.

Henry H. Fowler, secretary of the treasury said Americans should realize that travel abroad is damaging to the country.

These were Johnson's main actions and proposals: —He imposed a set of strict controls over all private investments abroad.

—The Federal Reserve Board was given standby authority to force U.S. banks to cut overseas lending by $500 million in the next 12 months.

—Government agencies were ordered to reduce 1968 spending by $500 million.

—American firms were urged to expand and intensify their foreign sales programs. The Commerce department will launch a $200 million sales-promotion program.

—Legislation to force U.S. firms to bring home their accumulated overseas earnings will be considered.

—Common Market countries were asked to eliminate non-tariff barriers to U.S. imports.

Lima Report Returned on 2 Local Men

The report of Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane on William Arthur Crosby and John Fyffe, convicted of a sex offense with a female under 16 years of age, has been returned to Common Pleas Judge William Ammer.

The report on Fyffe stated he was not mentally ill or a deficient offender. However, it stated he was a psychopathic offender.

The report on Crosby stated he was neither mentally ill, a deficient offender nor a psychopathic offender.

The two men will be returned from Lima for sentencing. A psychopathic offender is one who chronically breaks the law.

Motorist Hurt In 1-Car Mishap

Larry J. Justice, 18, Route 4, was admitted to Berger Hospital for treatment of injuries sustained in an accident 7:15 a.m. Monday on Renick Road.

Justice told Deputy James Lockard of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department he lost control of his car on an icy spot in the road.

His car was heavily damaged. The mishap was the only one of eight investigated by the sheriff's department over the holiday weekend in which a person was injured.

The last seconds are ticking away for Greenwich Mean Time. Britain plans to conform to European time on Feb. 13, 1968, by advancing clocks one hour.

Dear Abby:

Ballet Lessons Fine for Boy

DEAR ABBY: A woman signed "TEDDY'S MOTHER" expressed some doubts and fears because her son wanted to take ballet lessons.

Why? I have four sons. The youngest takes ballet, but his three older brothers favor sports. (I make sure the sports-minded boys don't ridicule their brother because of his interest in dancing.)

As for ballet being for sissies, I'd like to see a sissy lift a 130-pound ballerina with one hand and hold her over his head. And all those strenuous leaps, turns and jumps take muscle control, coordination and strength the finest athlete would envy.

Ballet does more for a boy's body than football. Seeing my son dance is a much prettier sight than seeing him carried off a football field on a stretcher, bleeding, with a smashed jaw and a broken leg. Thank you.

MOTHER OF FOUR
DEAR ABBY: I was outraged when I read the letter in your column from the mother who was afraid that her son wouldn't be "all man" just because he expressed a desire to take ballet dancing. That mother seemed ashamed because her son didn't choose to follow in the footsteps of his father who was a "five handicap" in golf.

That mother should realize how much masculinity and discipline goes into becoming a professional ballet dancer. He must be as fit as an Olympic champion and possess the grace and rhythm of an artist. I think that any boy who is fortunate enough to show signs of talent in the dance should be encouraged in it—and not made to feel guilty or lacking in manhood.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y.
DEAR ABBY: This is for TEDDY'S MOTHER: Let your son take ballet. The heck with the he-man junk. There is nothing wrong with a boy taking ballet lesson. In fact, originally ballet was danced only by men.

BALLET FAN
DEAR ABBY: A friendly tip to "TEDDY'S MOTHER." If you are concerned about your son's masculinity, it might help if you quit calling him

"TEDDY," and start calling him "TED."

FRED'S NOT "FREDDY'S" MOTHER
DEAR ABBY: So TEDDY'S father will "die" if his son studies ballet? Well, I'd rather have a clean-cut hard-working ballet dancer for a son than a bearded, pot-smoking, unwashed protesting high school dropout.

SEEN SOME
DEAR ABBY: Please tell Teddy's mother, who feared she'd never have any grandchildren because her only son wanted to take ballet, that she need not worry.

I've worked with many male ballet dancers who could produce more grandchildren than that woman could handle.

MELBA
DEAR ABBY: Would you believe that before my son became a Golden Gloves boxing champion he was advised to take ballet lessons to improve his footwork? He took them, too. And when he was kidded about it, he laughed harder than anybody because he knew that he was as much a man as the manliest.

Fire Destroys Patients' Room

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fire erupted in a room at the Victory Park Nursing Home here Monday but employees confined the blaze to the room occupied by two patients and rescued them.

But one of the patients, Ernestine Blumenthal, an 80-year-old invalid, suffered burns on the upper part of her body and was listed in fair condition today. One employee was burned on an arm.

See Few GIs Deserting in Europe

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

BRUSSELS (AP) — Desertions from American forces in Europe have been few, military authorities say, despite feelings against the Vietnam war and a sizable loophole in the agreement that requires European nations to return deserters.

U.S. Army headquarters in Europe listed 335 men away without official leave on Nov. 1 out of 225,000, including 46 defectors to Eastern Europe. The Air Force says it has had no deserters in Europe for more than three years.

The Army says volunteers for Vietnam service are increasing, with 10,500 registered up to mid-August, compared with 14,000 for the whole of 1966.

More has been heard about deserters in Britain than anywhere else. In London the "Committee of 100" distributes leaflets urging American soldiers to desert or refuse to serve in Vietnam. A spokesman claimed that the number of those who do so is increasing, but he gave no figures.

Two young Americans in London—Harry Pinkus, 24, of New York city and Joel Gladstone, 27, of Teaneck, N.J. — have launched a drive to encourage American youths abroad to resist the draft. They took an ad in a London newspaper and some well known people responded with signatures and money, including the poet Stephen Spender and John Le Carre, author of "the Spy Who Came in from the Cold."

The loophole for deserters in Europe was found in an agreement signed by the 15 member countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The agreement binds them to turn over any member of an allied force who deserts. But some lawyers hold that when soldiers leave the country where they are stationed, their presence in a second country is not "in connection with their official duties."

So they are not, strictly speaking, any longer members of an allied force.

There has been no confirmation by the Dutch government but there seems to be little to prevent an American soldier in Germany from getting pass for a short leave in Holland and then staying there. The bulk of U.S. forces is in Germany.

Many West Europeans oppose the Vietnam war, so it would not be hard for a deserter to find friends to help keep him from the authorities even if the legal loophole is closed.

The loophole would not prevent prosecution of a deserter if he returned to the United States. And it does not offer even temporary comfort to draft dodgers who have not been taken into the forces. But they are protected the fact that violation of the draft law is not an offense covered in extradition treaties.

Men-Women-Ratio

The fairest sex is catching up with the most underrated one in population in Canada, too. That's the startling news from the latest report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

According to the DBS, the ratio of males to 100 females for Canada as a whole fell from 103 to 101 in the 10-year period from 1956 to 1966.

Marriageable girls shouldn't be too downhearted, however. Rural areas in Canada continue to yield bumper crops of men. The ratio there is 110 to 100—and on farms it's 115 to 100.

It's in the Canadian cities where the girls outnumber the men by a fair margin. The bright lights and the "secretaries wanted" advertisements account for the fact that ladies outnumber gentlemen 100-98 in those urban areas.

Men are men everywhere, of course, but more so—as legend still has it—in the west. In Saskatchewan, for example, men outnumbered women 105-100.

The population pattern in Canada closely follows that of the United States. Its most populous provinces, Ontario and Quebec, report an even split—100 women to every 100 males.

Handicap for Golfers

Trust the Japanese to invent a computer that calculates the future handicap of golfers. Projected over five years, the handicaps are arrived at from information fed in by the golfer on his height, weight and grip strength.

Some heartrending scenes can easily be imagined. For example, a golfer who has just paid $1,500 to join a swank country club, $350 for a set of the best clubs, and $200 for a leather bag, is seen being carted away from a sporting goods store in a straitjacket.

"What happened to him?" asks a bystander.

"If you think he's in bad shape you should see the computer," replies a clerk. "He attacked it with a sand wedge when it told him his handicap would triple in five years."

Pray for the Unexpected

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Can anyone predict the shape of the coming year? If you think so turn the clock back to a year ago. Would you have prophesied the looting, burning and killing that broke out in the core areas of big American cities (Newark, Detroit and the rest)? Would you have been willing to guess the outcome of a war between little Israel and a big coalition of Arab countries? Would you have charted the collapse of the British pound? Or the course of the anti-draft movement? Or the almost complete disruption of Lyndon Johnson's consensus? Or the extent of the confusion in mainland China? Or Senator Eugene McCarthy's usurpation of Bobby Kennedy's place as the symbol of a peace movement? Or Governor George Romney's "brainwashing" gaffe? Or anything else of importance that actually did come to pass in 1967?

Since nobody accurately prefigured the past year, one should, perhaps, resist the temptation to say anything at all about 1968. But one can note the forces that are at work, even if there is no way of guessing what will happen when they intermingle or collide. Everyone expects more violence and destruction next spring and summer, for the black power advocates have been talking urban guerrilla warfare and Dr. Martin Luther King's proposed "massive dislocation" of life in Washington, D. C., by three thousand "non-violent" followers will, if it goes off on schedule in April, certainly attract the fringe elements that have been calling Dr. King an Uncle Tom. But the pollsters indicate that "law and order" will be the number one political issue in 1968, so a response to the challenge of protracted lawlessness might logically be expected. The question that quite eludes prophecy is whether the response will come from the Administration, or from the Republicans who figure to take over if LBJ can't come up with answers to riots, looting, draft card burning, and the strange behavior of Christian divines who don't seem to worry about flame-throwers in the hands of the Viet Cong. This is a toss-up question that depends on LBJ's quality of will.

The dollar is another item inviting a response to challenge. It can still be defended, but only if the various foreign "gnomes" who operate without concessions to sentiment have decided that the U. S. won't devalue and will get its own house in order. Promises here mean nothing (remember when Sir Stafford Cripps said the integrity of the pound was beyond question?) Nor will a tax increase without really drastic pruning of government expenses mean anything. Since racket action seems to accompany any government spending, with new subsidies becoming untouchable almost overnight, the bet here is that response to the dollar's troubles will come too late.

The big gamble is the Vietnam War. The peace movement can hardly hope to compel an immediate American withdrawal, for no major political party could risk the aftermath of such action. But if our present "search and destroy" policy in Vietnam can't keep the enemy from retreating and reforming, the temptation to make a bad peace in time for the 1968 elections could become almost irresistible. Watch for the pattern that develops when the "coalition - government - for South Vietnam argument intensifies. And watch for the Republican reaction to coalition propositions.

Governor — or ex-Governor — Wallace of Alabama is another incalculable X in the 1968 political equation. If it can be shown to him in time that his insistence on running on a third party ticket will insure the reelection of Lyndon Johnson, who is his enemy, will he remove himself from the picture? Presumably Wallace won't know his own answer until he sees the outcome of the Republican convention.

And labor? If the auto workers could get their, who is going to tell copper and steel and all the others that they can't cash in too? This, plus the continued expense of the Vietnam War, will have its inevitable effect on the dollar.

And the Middle East? The Soviets are building their Mediterranean sea power. The British have pulled out of Aden. Optimism, anyone? The only optimistic thing on the horizon is that the unexpected — such as the collapse of Maoism and the Indonesian revolt against the Communists — happens more often than not. It happened in Bolivia, with the death of Che Guevara. Will it happen again is that the unexpected — such with the deaths of Mao and Ho Chi Minh?

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The books are closed on 1967, and while it seems to have been a singularly lackluster year in television, it had its moments—some very good moments indeed.

It was, for instance, the year of "The Final War of Olly Winter," premiere program of "CBS Playhouse," and a fine sensitive play by Ronald Ribman. Hal Holbrook was able to bring his remarkable "Mark Twain Tonight" to television, too.

There was a glorious scene in the production of "Anastasia" created by two superb performers, Lynn Fontanne as the grand duchess and Julie Harris as the girl. There was Harry Dolan's "Losers Weepers" in NBC's "Experiment in Television" series that explained the anger and frustration of Watts in searing terms.

Melvin Douglas came on with great power in "Do Not Go Gentle into That Good Night," in which playwright Loring Mandel brought home poignantly the tragedy of old age.

It was the year in which the Smothers Brothers were tossed into a spot opposite powerful "Bonanza" on Sunday nights and managed to do what no one else had—survive for a second season.

There were some especially bright and imaginative variety specials—"C'est la Vie," shot in Paris with Maurice Chevalier and Diahann Carroll, and Herb Alpert and his Tijuana Brass—both memorable for the production values.

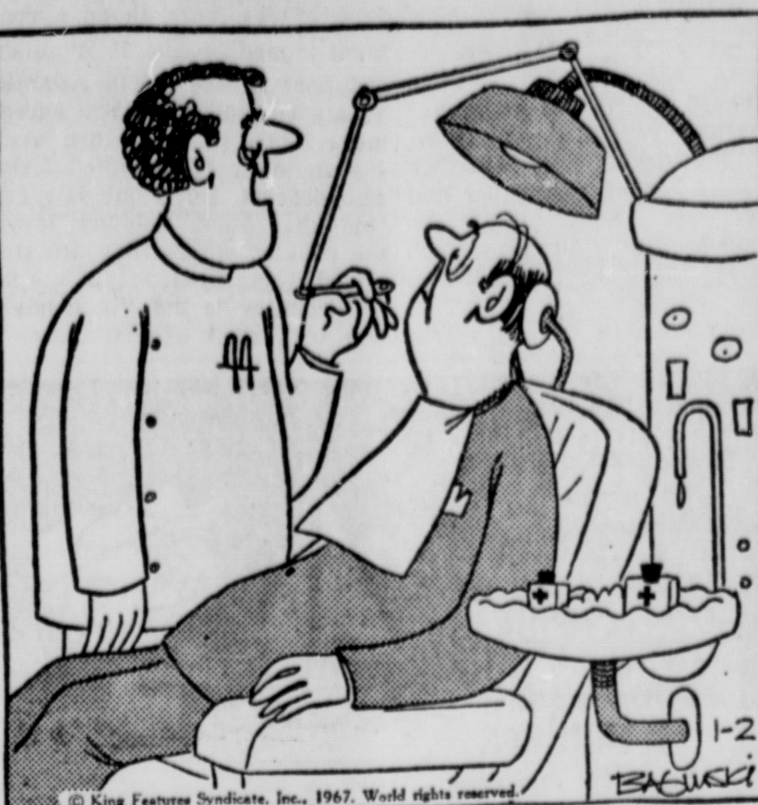

Rock Hudson was the singing, dancing star of a variety hour, and surprised his fans with unsuspected talents. It was a year in which two Sinatra scored well—Frank Sr. with Ella Fitzgerald in another satisfying hour of song, and daughter Nancy in a bright young program full of novel ideas.

Raymond Burr, after a short holiday, returned in a new character, a crippled police chief, and had no trouble persuading his fans that he was not, after all, "Perry Mason," but a gruff, lovable crime fighter named Ironside. Carol Burnett, who had had her problems with a variety show two seasons back, made it successfully in her own show. Sally Field in "The Flying Nun" came up with one of the season's big hits.

"Damn Yankees," which was a good Broadway musical, was not so hot as a TV production, and "Androcles and the Lion" stubbornly resisted transfer from a show play to a Richard Rodgers musical.

Barbra Streisand's annual special was greeted, for a change, with very muted hurrahs, and a series on the 1967 phenomenon, Twiggy, caused only a few ripples of embarrassment. It was the year when the joke of "Batman" wore thin, but when CBS and NBC introduced simultaneously a couple of more supermen, "Mr. Terrific" and "Captain Nice"—and soon wished they had not.

It was a year when thousands of hours of programming was turned out, and a lot of it, naturally, was pretty bad. But it was also a year when the viewer, if he would pick and choose, could see some exciting, moving drama, funny comedy, all manner of sports, and news—some-

PRIZE SUCKER of the year must be the pedestrian in Iowa who stood rooted to one spot while two total strangers descended from a sedan and said that one of them had bet the other he could lift said pedestrian off the ground.

Would he allow the test? He would. The driver then lifted him three feet off the ground, put him down, thanked him—and the pair drove off. Some moments later the pedestrian discovered he was considerably lighter—lighter by one wallet containing $112 in cash and all his credit cards.

Two brothers prospered in the clothing business, and not only treated their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blumberg, to a trip to Europe, but persuaded a Catholic friend to have them included at an audience with the Pope in Rome. At its conclusion, Papa Blumberg wrote an enthusiastic letter to his sons, noting, "What a thrill! We practically stood next to him. He's the kindest, most wonderful looking man—about a size 40, short."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How does the Asian Flu differ from an ordinary common cold? How is the disease recognized and is there any different form of treatment. May I also ask how the Board of Health knows when to expect an epidemic of Asian Flu.

MR. F. S. Dear Mr. S.: The only thing that the gripe and a cold and the Asian Flu have in common is that they are all caused by some type of virus. At this time no single virus has been identified as the only cause of the common cold. The Asian Flu is known to be caused by different strains of viruses, some of which have been identified, and from them a vaccine has been prepared. The vaccine that is used to protect people against the Asian Flu can only be partially effective because not all the strains of viruses have been completely and definitely classified.

The onset of the Asian Flu is not unlike that of the common cold except that the symptoms are more distressing and incapacitating. In both conditions there is usually a chilly sensation with low grade fever and generalized aches of the muscles of the arms, legs and back.

With Asian Flu, fever may be a little higher and shortly after the onset there may be a persistent cough, pain in the chest and symptoms that suggest a mild infection of the lung.

Physicians are on the alert during the Flu season to recognize the relative seriousness of the condition as contrasted with the ordinary cold. The onset and the severity is highly important for diagnosis.

The blood count is rather important because in Influenza the white blood cells tend to be lower than with the common cold.

times as it was made. He could also see a lot of old movies he made funny comedy, all manner of sports, and news—sometimes as it was made. He could also see a lot of old movies he missed when they were playing at the local theater.

Next year? Probably the content will be pretty much the same as 1967. Except that there will undoubtedly be even more old movies around.

According to Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Life can be great in 1968.

That is what a peek in the old crystal ball reveals about the year unrolling before us. The prospect is tremendous—if can-tankerous mankind doesn't destroy its own view.

While any forecast of the future has to be a bit on the fuzzy side, we predict—without guaranteeing their certainty—that these things will happen:

Business, as usual, will continue to be unusual. There will be a few new basements in the boom, but its total ceiling will increase in altitude. There will be plenty of jobs available for those unwilling to work.

Naturally, since it is an election year, the poor will be tremendously popular with the politicians. So will every other minority. While pockets of poverty will remain, more coins will jingle in those pockets.

Who will be the opposing candidates for the presidency? They will be Nelson A. Rockefeller and Lyndon Baines Johnson. Each will run on a platform largely invented some decades ago by Socialist Norman Thomas, who has become the political theologian of both the Democratic and Republican parties.

The Republican slogan will be: "Let's Rock Along with Rocky." The Democrats will counter this with a dignified, two-block-long billboard erected in front of the White House—with Mrs. Johnson's full approval—which will declare: "Keep America on Its Way with LBJ."

Many changes will occur on the international scene. The most striking of these, probably, will be the resignation of Gen. Charles de Gaulle as president of France in order to become a visiting professor in political history at Harvard. The subject of his first lecture will be, "Twelve glaring errors made by Churchill and Roosevelt before they finally decided to take my advice on how to win World War II."

London will survive another crisis after sensational charges are made in Parliament that three of Britain's best cricket teams have been secretly financed by American CIA funds. The CIA will issue a stiff desclaimer: "We cannot be held responsible for every wicked deed."

Life on our own home front will remain predictably balmy. For example:

In Tennessee a mountaineer will be bitten by a rattlesnake. He will promptly pick it up and bite it back. The reptile will succumb, the man will live.

Hollywood will make one of those $25 million true-to-life epics in which Elizabeth Taylor plays a visiting European princess who decides, just for fun, to get a job as a waitress. She meets and falls in love with a truckdriver with a Brooklyn accent—who else but Richard Burton?

In St. Louis, or perhaps in a suburb of Chicago, some embattled curmudgeon will make the front pages by building a 15-foot spite fence against his neighbor's petunia bed. The spite fence will be composed of beer bottles.

Television will be improved by the creation of an all-purpose commercial which gives the same message whether read forward or backward.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — A sampling of forecasts regarding this year's gross national product, the total of all goods and services produced during the year, shows a consensus in the area of $840 billion.

This seemingly would mean a $55 billion increase in output over 1967, but many of the forecasters believe as much as $27 billion of that will be inflation. Measured in 1967 dollars, the gain would be nearer $27 billion.

A majority of the forecasters also believe the first half of the year will be the strongest, that a tax increase will be needed early in the year and that inflation will simmer down during the late summer months.

In making their estimates, some analysts stumbled over the problem of Vietnam and simply assumed that it would cause the government to spend no more nor less than in 1967.

In general, forecasters seem more certain than ever that in 1968 most Americans will enjoy a standard of living never before achieved, with the per capita share of production exceeding $4,000 for the first time in history.

Here are a few of the more important estimates of America's productive power in 1968:

National Industrial Conference Board, a research and educational organization supported mainly by business, surveyed 12 economists for its Economic Forum. The consensus was for a GNP of $842 billion, a gain of 7.5 per cent over 1967, but with half the increase accounted for by higher prices.

National Planning Association, which describes itself as nonprofit and nonpolitical, "devoted to planning by Americans in agriculture, business, labor and professions" forecasts a GNP of $844.5 billion, but with more than half of it inflation.

William Freund, formerly chief economist of Prudential Life Insurance but now vice president of the New York Stock Exchange, foresees a GNP of $848 billion, with government contributing $195 billion, business $93 billion, consumers $555 billion and foreign trade $5 billion. This means about an 8 per cent advance, with 3 per cent of it inflation.

Alexander Trowbridge, secretary of commerce, foresees a minimum increase of $50 billion, if President Johnson's tax increase proposal is approved and if wage and price increases are restrained voluntarily. Trowbridge feels "the potential gain is substantially higher."

Only in December 1968 will the accuracy of these estimates be known. However, in years past the consensus of estimates generally has been close to the mark.

Vallee for Mayor

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rudy Vallee for mayor of Los Angeles? Why not? Remember what happened with George Murphy and Ronald Reagan.

But the veteran crooner isn't going after a campaign to unseat Sam Yorty, Los Angeles' ubiquitous mayor. "It would have to be a real draft," says Vallee. "If enough people want me to run, I will. But I'm not going around kissing babies and all that sort of rot."

Politics would be a brand new pursuit for the 66-year-old Vallee, whose career has covered all the show-biz bases. He was the first of the great pop singers, a screen idol, radio star, record personality, film character actor, television performer, Broadway star ("How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying").

He also ranks with Casey Stengel as one of the great non-stop talkers, which should stand him in good stead if he decides on a political career. Sometimes it's best to just stand back and let him continue speaking. Like this:

"I first started thinking about running for mayor back in '39 and '40. I was appalled at what (the then mayor) Norrie Poulson did to Khrushchev. Even though the man was a Communist, there was no excuse for being rude to a visiting dignitary. Norrie is a fraternity brother of mine, and I met him at a few affairs. One day I ran into him in the Houston airport and I told him I was thinking of running."

"You know what he said? He just grinned and said, 'Rudy, you'd make a helluva mayor,' and he went running off. That annoyed me, and I started thinking more seriously about entering the race. Then one day I had breakfast with one of the king-makers of this town. He told me, 'Rudy, you wouldn't be able to take it, all the in-fighting and the dirty work that goes on in politics.' That discouraged me. . .

"I'd enjoy being mayor, and I think I could do a good job. There are several things I would like to accomplish, and I agree with Yorty that something should be done about the property tax. I don't think a man like myself, with no children, should be required to pay the same school tax as a man who is the father of nine. It simply isn't fair. . .

"What's wrong with actors going into politics? If a man has any intelligence, common sense and honesty, he should be qualified for public office, even though he is an actor. Oh, I'll admit there are a lot of actors who don't have enough sense to come in out of the rain. Many of them are unfit for any office outside of dog catcher."

"But being an actor shouldn't disqualify you. Ronnie Reagan had every qualification for being governor of California. He has good common sense and did a fine job as president of the Screen Actors Guild. George Murphy hasn't exactly set off any fireworks in the Senate, but he's a nice person and hard worker. Well, it's hard for me to judge him because he was a classmate of mine at Yale."

"Shirley Temple? I don't know about her. Compared to our woman from Maine (Sen. Margaret Chase Smith) she might not come off too well. But then, Shirley is more feminine, and I'm not so sure the feminine women are suited for politics. They have peculiar minds, women do, and I don't think they have the savvy for politics."

Generations of British soldiers and sailors served at Aden. They wrote a pipe march about it, "The Barren Rocks of Aden."

Hato's They'll Do It Every Time

Men-Women-Ratio

The fairest sex is catching up with the most underrated one in population in Canada, too. That's the startling news from the latest report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

According to the DBS, the ratio of males to 100 females for Canada as a whole fell from 103 to 101 in the 10-year period from 1956 to 1966.

Marriageable girls shouldn't be too downhearted, however. Rural areas in Canada continue to yield bumper crops of men. The ratio there is 110 to 100—and on farms it's 115 to 100.

It's in the Canadian cities where the girls outnumber the men by a fair margin. The bright lights and the "secretaries wanted" advertisements account for the fact that ladies outnumber gentlemen 100-98 in those urban areas.

Men are men everywhere, of course, but more so—as legend still has it—in the west. In Saskatchewan, for example, men outnumbered women 105-100.

The population pattern in Canada closely follows that of the United States. Its most populous provinces, Ontario and Quebec, report an even split—100 women to every 100 males.

Handicap for Golfers

Trust the Japanese to invent a computer that calculates the future handicap of golfers. Projected over five years, the handicaps are arrived at from information fed in by the golfer on his height, weight and grip strength.

Some heartrending scenes can easily be imagined. For example, a golfer who has just paid $1,500 to join a swank country club, $350 for a set of the best clubs, and $200 for a leather bag, is seen being carted away from a sporting goods store in a straitjacket.

"What happened to him?" asks a bystander.

"If you think he's in bad shape you should see the computer," replies a clerk. "He attacked it with a sand wedge when it told him his handicap would triple in five years."

Pray for the Unexpected

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Can anyone predict the shape of the coming year? If you think so turn the clock back to a year ago. Would you have prophesied the looting, burning and killing that broke out in the core areas of big American cities (Newark, Detroit and the rest)? Would you have been willing to guess the outcome of a war between little Israel and a big coalition of Arab countries? Would you have charted the collapse of the British pound? Or the course of the anti-draft movement? Or the almost complete disruption of Lyndon Johnson's consensus? Or the extent of the confusion in mainland China? Or Senator Eugene McCarthy's usurpation of Bobby Kennedy's place as the symbol of a peace movement? Or Governor George Romney's "brainwashing" gaffe? Or anything else of importance that actually did come to pass in 1967?

Since nobody accurately prefigured the past year, one should, perhaps, resist the temptation to say anything at all about 1968. But one can note the forces that are at work, even if there is no way of guessing what will happen when they intermingle or collide. Everyone expects more violence and destruction next spring and summer, for the black power advocates have been talking urban guerrilla warfare and Dr. Martin Luther King's proposed "massive dislocation" of life in Washington, D. C., by three thousand "non-violent" followers will, if it goes off on schedule in April, certainly attract the fringe elements that have been calling Dr. King an Uncle Tom. But the pollsters indicate that "law and order" will be the number one political issue in 1968, so a response to the challenge of protracted lawlessness might logically be expected. The question that quite eludes prophecy is whether the response will come from the Administration, or from the Republicans who figure to take over if LBJ can't come up with answers to riots, looting, draft card burning, and the strange behavior of Christian divines who don't seem to worry about flame-throwers in the hands of the Viet Cong. This is a toss-up question that depends on LBJ's quality of will.

The dollar is another item inviting a response to challenge. It can still be defended, but only if the various foreign "gnomes" who operate without concessions to sentiment have decided that the U. S. won't devalue and will get its own house in order. Promises here mean nothing (remember when Sir Stafford Cripps said the integrity of the pound was beyond question?) Nor will a tax increase without really drastic pruning of government expenses mean anything. Since racket action seems to accompany all government spending, with new subsidies becoming untouchable almost overnight, the bet here is that response to the dollar's troubles will come too late.

The big gamble is the Vietnam War. The peace movement can hardly hope to compel an immediate American withdrawal, for no major political party could risk the aftermath of such action. But if our present "search and destroy" policy in Vietnam can't keep the enemy from retreating and reforming, the temptation to make a bad peace in time for the 1968 elections could become almost irresistible. Watch for the pattern that develops when the "coalition - government - for South Vietnam argument intensifies. And watch for the Republican reaction to coalition propositions.

Governor — or ex-Governor — Wallace of Alabama is another incalculable X in the 1968 political equation. If it can be shown to him in time that his insistence on running on a third party ticket will insure the reelection of Lyndon Johnson, who is his enemy, will he remove himself from the picture? Presumably Wallace won't know his own answer until he sees the outcome of the Republican convention.

And labor? If the auto workers could get their, who is going to tell copper and steel and all the others that they can't cash in too? This, plus the continued expense of the Vietnam War, will have its inevitable effect on the dollar.

And the Middle East? The Soviets are building their Mediterranean sea power. The British have pulled out of Aden. Optimism, anyone? The only optimistic thing on the horizon is that the unexpected — such as the collapse of Maoism and the Indonesian revolt against the Communists — happens more often than not. It happened in Bolivia, with the death of Che Guevara. Will it happen again is that the unexpected — such with the deaths of Mao and Ho Chi Minh?

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How does the Asian Flu differ from an ordinary common cold? How is the disease recognized and is there any different form of treatment. May I also ask how the Board of Health knows when to expect an epidemic of Asian Flu.

MR. F. S. Dear Mr. S.: The only thing that the gripe and a cold and the Asian Flu have in common is that they are all caused by some type of virus. At this time no single virus has been identified as the only cause of the common cold. The Asian Flu is known to be caused by different strains of viruses, some of which have been identified, and from them a vaccine has been prepared. The vaccine that is used to protect people against the Asian Flu can only be partially effective because not all the strains of viruses have been completely and definitely classified.

With Asian Flu, fever may be a little higher and shortly after the onset there may be a persistent cough, pain in the chest and symptoms that suggest a mild infection of the lung.

Physicians are on the alert during the Flu season to recognize the relative seriousness of the condition as contrasted with the ordinary cold. The onset and the severity is highly important for diagnosis.

The blood count is rather important because in Influenza the white blood cells tend to be lower than with the common cold.

He could also see a lot of old movies he made funny comedy, all manner of sports, and news—sometimes as it was made. He could also see a lot of old movies he missed when they were playing at the local theater.

Next year? Probably the content will be pretty much the same as 1967. Except that there will undoubtedly be even more old movies around.

The science of epidemiology is a very complicated one. These research scientists can predict with remarkable degree of accuracy the time and the severity of an epidemic. These epidemiologists immediately notify public health officials all over the world and alert them to the need to vaccinate people, especially the elderly and the infirm, against the Asian Flu.

The Flu vaccine is remarkably effective in reducing the severity of influenza attacks. It most certainly should be taken by all those patients who are directed to do so by their own physician.

The treatment for Asian Flu and the common cold are essentially the same. Fever is reduced by aspirin. Pains and aches are helped by mild drugs like codeine.

Fluids are increased and diet should be moderately light. The throat can be gargled with simple warm solution containing a half teaspoon of salt in a glass of ordinary tap water.

Nose drops, used in moderation and followed by steam inhalations are beneficial.

The need for antibiotics depends entirely on the judgment of the physician. If he feels that the influenza is complicated he will use some form of antibiotic. Don't, you, the patient, be the judge as to whether "yours" is the cold or the flu. See your doctor early and give yourself this greater advantage of rapid recovery.

Inner tensions can be very devastating. Speak out emotional problems and relief follows.

Here are a few of the more important estimates of America's productive power in 1968:

National Industrial Conference Board, a research and educational organization supported mainly by business, surveyed 12 economists for its Economic Forum. The consensus was for a GNP of $842 billion, a gain of 7.5 per cent over 1967, but with half the increase accounted for by higher prices.

National Planning Association, which describes itself as nonprofit and nonpolitical and "devoted to planning by Americans in agriculture, business, labor and professions" forecasts a GNP of $844.5 billion, but with more than half of it inflation.

William Freund, formerly chief economist of Prudential Life Insurance but now vice president of the New York Stock Exchange, foresees a GNP of $848 billion, with government contributing $195 billion, business $93 billion, consumers $555 billion and foreign trade $5 billion. This means about an 8 per cent advance, with 3 per cent of it inflation.

Alexander Trowbridge, secretary of commerce, foresees a minimum increase of $50 billion, if President Johnson's tax increase proposal is approved and if wage and price increases are restrained voluntarily. Trowbridge feels "the potential gain is substantially higher."

Only in December 1968 will the accuracy of these estimates be known. However, in years past the consensus of estimates generally has been close to the mark.

Vallee for Mayor

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rudy Vallee for mayor of Los Angeles? Why not? Remember what happened with George Murphy and Ronald Reagan.

But the veteran crooner isn't going after a campaign to unseat Sam Yorty, Los Angeles' ubiquitous mayor. "It would have to be a real draft," says Vallee. "If enough people want me to run, I will. But I'm not going around kissing babies and all that sort of rot."

Politics would be a brand new pursuit for the 66-year-old Vallee, whose career has covered all the show-biz bases. He was the first of the great pop singers, a screen idol, radio star, record personality, film character actor, television performer, Broadway star ("How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying").

He also ranks with Casey Stengel as one of the great non-stop talkers, which should stand him in good stead if he decides on a political career. Sometimes it's best to just stand back and let him continue speaking. Like this:

"I first started thinking about running for mayor back in '59 and '60. I was appalled at what (the then mayor) Norrie Poulson did to Khrushchev. Even though the man was a Communist, there was no excuse for being rude to a visiting dignitary. Norrie is a fraternity brother of mine, and I met him at a few affairs. One day I ran into him in the Houston airport and I told him I was thinking of running."

"You know what he said? He just grinned and said, 'Rudy, you'd make a helluva mayor,' and he went running off. That annoyed me, and I started thinking more seriously about entering the race. Then one day I had breakfast with one of the king-makers of this town. He told me, 'Rudy, you wouldn't be able to take it, all the in-fighting

"I'd enjoy being mayor, and I think I could do a good job."

There are several things I would like to accomplish, and I agree with Yorty that something should be done about the property tax. I don't think a man like myself, with no children, should be required to pay the same school tax as a man who is the father of nine. It simply isn't fair."

"What's wrong with actors going into politics? If a man has any intelligence, common sense and honesty, he should be qualified for public office, even though he is an actor. Oh, I'll admit there are a lot of actors who don't have enough sense to come in out of the rain. Many of them are unfit for any office outside of dog catcher."

"But being an actor shouldn't disqualify you. Ronnie Reagan had every qualification for being governor of California. He has good common sense and did a fine job as president of the Screen Actors Guild. George Murphy hasn't exactly set off any fireworks in the Senate, but he's a nice person and hard worker. Well, it's hard for me to judge him because he was a classmate of mine at Yale."

"Shirley Temple? I don't know about her. Compared to our woman from Maine (Sen. Margaret Chase Smith) she might not come off too well. But then, Shirley is more feminine, and I'm not so sure the feminine women are suited for politics. They have peculiar minds, women do, and I don't think they have the savvy for politics."

Generations of British soldiers and sailors served at Aden. They wrote a pipe march about it, 'The Barren Rocks of Aden.'

Consolidations Give New Look To Ohio Schools

By WILBUR L. DUNBAR
WARSAW, Ohio (AP)—Winter in Ohio is of no consequence to schools in cities but a consolidated school in the country must watch the weather carefully.

On winter days when the weather is bad Don Rushing makes big decisions between 5 a. m. and 6:30 a. m. He's superintendent of River View Local School District. He must decide whether there will be school that day, a decision which faces dozens of other officials in Ohio's consolidated school districts.

Regardless of the weather the consolidated schools are giving a new look to the state's rural education.

Assistant State School Supt. Thomas Quick said at Columbus that the trend toward more consolidations is continuing in Ohio as well as other states.

The reason, he said, is because many smaller districts are unable to meet administrative costs. Ohio has cut its number of school districts from 738 to 692 since 1965. Quick says 30 more are expected by next July.

River View High School serves one of the largest consolidated districts in the state. It draws students from 365 square miles of woods, small rivers, hills, and bottom lands. The state average is 100-200 square miles.

The River View district was combined from three former districts. Coshocton County has only two other districts.

Because consolidated schools normally are located in the geographic center of the district, weather plays an important role after the winter snow starts to fall.

Mead Issues Prediction '67 Good Year

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Mead Paper Corp. in a year end report issued Saturday says it expects its total sales for the year to rise slightly from the record $633 million marked up in 1966.

H. E. Whitaker, chairman of Mead's board of directors, said that while uncertainties about Vietnam, spiraling interest costs and a possible tax increase make specific sales forecasts difficult, he said of the paper industry:

"There's been evidence of inventory liquidation over the past several months. While it's difficult to assess present inventory levels by paper users, we tend to agree with some of the paper industry economists who believe inventories are down to the point at which customers will need to depend more on new purchases. They're predicting 4 to 6 per cent increases in demand for various grades in 1968."

He said demand for containerboard is reasonably strong at present and the outlook is good. "After five consecutive years of higher earnings," Whitaker said, "it is evident that Mead's profits will be lower in 1967. This has been a year in which we've absorbed a great many of the start-up expenses of the New Northwood pulp mill in British Columbia and the new linerboard mill in Mahrt, Ala. We've also had start-up costs at four new container plants this year," including one in Washington Court House, Ohio.

3 Ohio Newsmen On Prize Group

NEW YORK (AP) — Three Ohio newspaper executives have been named to the 40-member Pulitzer Prize journalism jury for 1968.

Appointment of William M. Ware, executive editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer; Thomas L. Boardman, editor of the Cleveland Press, and Jim Fain, editor of the Dayton Daily News, was announced Monday by President Grayson L. Kirk of Columbia University.

Toastmasters Hold Meeting

The Circleville Toastmasters held their last meeting of 1967 Thursday with Bob Rustin serving as toastmaster for the evening's program.

In charge of the table topics session was Steve Compher. Rusty Vaughn was the winner of this competition. Offering formal speeches were Pheris Kreiger, Howard Snook, Ken Smith and Bob Ogden. Winner of this contest was Snook with a talk on the early life of author James Michener.

Schools may only miss five days without having to make up time.

The State Education Department says these districts seldom exceed the five days allotted each 180-day school year for "calamities" and other situations which cannot be controlled. The reason is better maintenance of improved highways.

Rushing says weather reports in this area are bad about three mornings a year. He depends on four area radio stations to pass the word, hopeful the students, families, and teachers will be listening.

But the weather is only one problem faced by rural educators.

From the arrival of the first bus to the departure of the last, Principal Larry Miller supervises a schedule of seven class periods spaces around three staggered lunch periods.

River View was built in 1965 in an open field near this community which has a population of 594. To make taxpayers' dollars go further, the school board chose cinder block but some imaginative painting gives the building a cheerful, modern look. Still—it cost $2 million.

Teachers here are assured of earning the statewide minimum of $5,000 the first year with a B. A. degree. Top pay is $9,269 after 14 years with a masters degree.

The state requires that River View High School have at least 45 units of basic courses, but more than 100 units are offered. Four years of Spanish and French are available and two of Latin.

As the third year gets underway at River View it appears that more effort can be given to improving course offerings. Solid blocks of time (half days) are set aside for course combinations in business office education.

River View High is an educational center, a center for social and cultural life. It is a lively oasis where whole families can come for a wide range of reasons.

Two Drown After Crash

FINDLEY LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Two suburban Cleveland, Ohio, teenagers drowned Monday and three others suffered minor injuries when their automobile plunged down a road-side embankment and into a creek near this community in extreme southwestern New York.

Killed were Thomas G. Spilka, 17, and Holli Hodge, 15, both of Rocky River, Ohio.

Three other Rocky River youths, Jeff Smyth, Robert Gladden and Keith Moran, were treated for minor injuries at Hamot Hospital in Erie, Pa.

Sheriff's deputies said the youths were en route to a skiing center when the car missed a curve, went down the embankment and landed upside down in four feet of water.

ARTIST ATTENDS CONCERT—Waving a staff, artist Salvadore Dali attends a performance of the Los Ninos Cantores, an Argentine children's choir, at the St. Regis Hotel in New York. The choir director, Fr. Marcello Coltro, is at the far right. Dali has been commissioned to illustrate the cover of a record album being brought out by the group.

Stewardess Ends Flights to Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An attractive French-born U.S. citizen who flew to Cuba twice a day for four months but never saw more than the airport at Veradero has ended her nerve-racking job. Beatrice del Perugia was a stewardess on National Airlines flight 901—the freedom flight that carries 90 Cuban exiles on each trip from Veradero to Miami International Airport.

The flights have brought about 100,000 Cubans here since they began with two flights each weekday. The flights have been suspended this week until Wednesday because of the anniversary celebration in Cuba of the formation of Fidel Castro's government nine years ago today.

Miss del Perugia got the assignment because she speaks four languages. She was a student of Russian and government at the University of Miami. She said she plans to marry in June and hopes to use her speech skills to become a translator.

In a letter to her successor, Miss del Perugia advised that the short hop is no milk run. "For 45 minutes you are in a full cabin of 90 terrified people; they sit numb, like zombies," she wrote. "They're frightened of flying, of leaving their homeland permanently, of the new life which awaits them in a foreign country with an unfamiliar tongue."

"Some are still frightened of the possibility of not coming at all and all have irrevocably left families behind. You can watch their fright gradually melt and change to elation."

What happens during the wait at the air terminal when the empty plane reaches Veradero? "The Cuban officials try to ignore us. They're not rude; they just act as though we didn't exist," she said. "There's nothing to do."

Thoughts of strolling away for sightseeing were scotched by the experience of a stewardess friend who did and was chased by counterspy types, she said.

31 Arrested Near Lima

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Thirty-one members of the Outlaws Motorcycle Club were arrested early Monday following a disturbance at a New Year's party at a roller skating rink just outside Lima.

Allen County sheriff's deputies said the party and a subsequent fire blamed on club members caused more than $1,000 damage to the Circle Roller Rink, whose owners told officials they thought the party was for a group of factory employees.

Those arrested, including five women, were charged with malicious destruction. Deputies said the Outlaws came from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin.

GOP Senate Control 'Possible'

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The odds are heavily against it but there's a possibility Republicans could win control of the Senate in the 1968 elections.
Some party strategists argue this should become a priority GOP goal.
The Republicans need 15 additional seats to gain a Senate majority for the first time since 1954. But most forecasters expect them to capture far fewer than 15 new seats.

The National Committee for an Effective Congress, a liberal-minded, nonpartisan group, considers a GOP gain of seats to be "a prudent estimate at this time."

But one GOP official contends the Republicans could take control if the party's top figures in contested states would become Senate candidates.

"If the will is there, the power is there," he said. "Whether the vision is there, I don't know."

It would take an historic Republican landslide next November to produce the party turnover that would give the GOP a majority.

Here are the mathematics of the situation:
—The terms of 34 senators expire next year. Twenty-three of them are Democrats, 11 Republicans.

—There are now 64 Democratic senators, 36 Republicans.

—Forty-one Democratic senators and 25 Republicans are serving terms which extend beyond the current 90th Congress.

This means the Democrats would need to capture only 10 of the seats contested in 1968 to hold clear control, while Republicans would have to perform the politically awesome task of winning 26.

A GOP victory of that magnitude is improbable. But one Republican professional contends the party could do it by putting some of its biggest names into Senate races next year.

For example, this party official said, the GOP would have to persuade such men as former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton to run for the Senate. Scranton has said he will not seek public office again. Washington-based Republicans believe he could capture the Senate seat now held by Democrat Joseph S. Clark.

In Ohio, the official said, Gov. James A. Rhodes would be a potent candidate for the Senate seat of Democrat Frank J. Lausche.

Oregon's Gov. Tom McCall could seek the post held by Sen.

Wayne Morse, another Democrat, the official said, even though that might cost the GOP control of a state house.

But there's no evidence that the men the party official mentioned would consider Senate races.

And the long-shot Republican task is more difficult because two GOP incumbents have announced they will not run for re-election.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa plan to retire after the current Congress ends.

Carlson probably could easily have won another term; the Iowa situation is not so clear. Democratic Gov. Harold Hughes has announced he will run for the Senate next year, and he looms as a formidable challenger for the GOP seat.

Tubman To Visit LBJ in February

MONROVIA, Liberia (AP) — President William V. S. Tubman, starting his 25th year as president of this republic founded by freed American slaves, will visit President Johnson in Washington Feb. 27 and 28, U.S. sources said today.

The invitation was extended by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who represented Johnson at the 72-year-old Liberian leader's inauguration Monday. Tubman, son of a woman born in Atlanta, Ga., said the coming four years in office would be his last term.

Chartered Plane Crashes, Burns

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — A chartered plane landing to pick up the University of Georgia basketball team crashed and burned Monday night while the team watched.

The three crew members aboard escaped without injury but the plane, a twin-engine Martin 404 owned by Southern Airways, was destroyed. There were no passengers in the craft.

"The boys that saw it said it looked like it landed on the front gear (wheels) and nosed into the runway," Georgia head coach Ken Rosemond said.

Fire Damages Ranger Station

CINCINNATI (AP) — More than a score of volunteer firemen battled for about two hours Monday a fire that damaged the Anderson Township ranger station.

Officials said the fire at the police station in the eastern part of Hamilton County was touched off by a workman using a torch to thaw out an oil line. The oil ignited.

Two Drown After Crash

FINDLEY LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Two suburban Cleveland, Ohio, teenagers drowned Monday and three others suffered minor injuries when their automobile plunged down a roadside embankment and into a creek near this community in extreme southwestern New York.

Killed were Thomas G. Spilka, 17, and Holli Hodge, 15, both of Rocky River, Ohio. Three other Rocky River youths, Jeff Smyth, Robert Gladden and Keith Moran, were treated for minor injuries at Hamot Hospital in Erie, Pa. Sheriff's deputies said the youths were en route to a skiing center when the car missed a curve, went down the embankment and landed upside down in four feet of water.

How the Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather bureau summary for Ohio:

Ohio shivered through another night of below-normal temperatures. In most sections of the state, however, temperatures failed to reach the record of near-record readings of Sunday night, largely due to a cloud cover.

The lowest temperature was at Zanesville, where the mercury dropped to 9 below zero about 4 a.m. Columbus fell to one below about 3 a.m. but climbed slowly thereafter to two degrees above by 5 a.m.

A weak cold front moved out of the plains Monday and stretched from northeast Wisconsin through eastern Iowa to northern Kansas this morning. It was expected to continue east and southeast, passing over Ohio tonight and early Wednesday.

An extensive area of light snow will accompany the front. Areas near the Ohio River also were to have a little freezing drizzle or sleet at times to day and tonight.

NEW YORK (AP) — An agreement reached in Columbus, Ohio, guaranteeing 140 jobs for Negroes on Ohio State University construction projects look like a clear cut victory for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

But to the NAACP staff members who negotiated it, the pact symbolizes the end of once-bright hopes that federal and state governments would vigorously enforce anti-discrimination statutes, and shows that pressure must be applied unrelentingly against unions and builders.

"It's an indication of the failure of voluntary compliance," said Herbert Hill, national labor director for the NAACP.

"There is a federal executive order issued by President Johnson forbidding discrimination in all federally financed construction. The U.S. Division of Contract Compliance is a dead letter. They have never enforced this. They depend instead on voluntary compliance."

In Washington, the head of the division, Owen Kiley, replied that federal funds for the Ohio State projects had been held up since last May.

That was when U.S. District Judge Joseph P. Kinneary ruled in a suit brought by the NAACP that government funds may not be used on projects where there is racial discrimination in hiring.

The judge also held that the state had primary responsibility for requiring that such work forces be integrated, and it was under his order that agreement was reached last Thursday, more than six months later.

Until last month, according to Dr. David McConnell, a university biochemist who headed the NAACP negotiating team as labor chairman of the Columbus branch, the university had made no attempt to implement the decision.

Transit Strike Threat Over

NEW YORK (AP) — The first regular work day of the new year was a happy one for New Yorkers today. They had subway and bus service after weeks of worry about the threat of a transit strike.

As a bonus, they had word from Mayor John V. Lindsay that the Transit Authority said its contract settlement with two unions Monday would not cause a raise in the 20-cent fare in the "foreseeable future."

The fare had gone up 5 cents as a result of the settlement that ended the crippling 12-day subway and bus strike which started New Year's Day two years ago.

after he gained admittance to a Washington meeting of Health Education and Welfare Department officials last Dec. 1 by threatening "to hold a press conference in the hall if they didn't admit me."

At that meeting, he said, "We got some of the primitive facts established. Namely, we held HEW as well as the state of Ohio responsible. Then HEW told the University they wouldn't let $6 million in matching funds go unless they settled their peace with the NAACP."

"It was really a squeeze play between the federal government and the NAACP, and the federal government ran scared because it's an election year. We threatened to name them in a suit before the same court on the same issue covering the entire state of Ohio."

Director Kiley of the HEW's Division of Contract Compliance confirmed the meeting with McConnell, but said that when the NAACP representative asked to be admitted, he was invited to attend and fully express his views. And, said Kiley, the decision to withhold federal funds for the Ohio State projects was made last May, not at the December meeting.

NEW YORK (AP) — An agreement reached in Columbus, Ohio, guaranteeing 140 jobs for Negroes on Ohio State University construction projects look like a clear cut victory for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

But to the NAACP staff members who negotiated it, the pact symbolizes the end of once-bright hopes that federal and state governments would vigorously enforce anti-discrimination statutes, and shows that pressure must be applied unrelentingly against unions and builders.

Until last month, according to Dr. David McConnell, a university biochemist who headed the NAACP negotiating team as labor chairman of the Columbus branch, the university had made no attempt to implement the decision.

McConnell, who is white, said negotiations were arranged only after he gained admittance to a Washington meeting of Health Education and Welfare Department officials last Dec. 1 by threatening "to hold a press conference in the hall if they didn't admit me."

At that meeting, he said, "We got some of the primitive facts established. Namely, we held HEW as well as the state of Ohio responsible. Then HEW told the University they wouldn't let $6 million in matching funds go unless they settled their peace with the NAACP."

And, said Kiley, the decision to withhold federal funds for the Ohio State projects was made last May, not at the December meeting.

In Columbus, the university's equal employment opportunity officer, Stephen Lance, disputed McConnell's allegation that the school hadn't tried to implement the court order.

"I would object to the words 'no attempt' and would say that the attempts being made finally jelled after that (Washington) meeting," Lance said. He said university officials began negotiating with contractors immediately after the court decision "to get their commitments to hire minority workers."

Transit Strike Threat Over

NEW YORK (AP) — The first regular work day of the new year was a happy one for New Yorkers today. They had subway and bus service after weeks of worry about the threat of a transit strike.

As a bonus, they had word from Mayor John V. Lindsay that the Transit Authority said its contract settlement with two unions Monday would not cause a raise in the 20-cent fare in the "foreseeable future."

The fare had gone up 5 cents as a result of the settlement that ended the crippling 12-day subway and bus strike which started New Year's Day two years ago.

How the Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official weather bureau summary for Ohio:

Ohio shivered through another night of below-normal temperatures. In most sections of the state, however, temperatures failed to reach the record of near-record readings of Sunday night, largely due to a cloud cover.

The lowest temperature was at Zanesville, where the mercury dropped to 9 below zero about 4 a.m. Columbus fell to one below about 3 a.m. but climbed slowly thereafter to two degrees above by 5 a.m.

A weak cold front moved out of the plains Monday and stretched from northeast Wisconsin through eastern Iowa to northern Kansas this morning. It was expected to continue east and southeast, passing over Ohio tonight and early Wednesday.

An extensive area of light snow will accompany the front. Areas near the Ohio River also were to have a little freezing drizzle or sleet at times to day and tonight.

New Poet Laureate
Cecil Day-Lewis

LONDON (AP) — Cecil Day-Lewis, Britain's new poet laureate, puts news events into verse and writes subtle mystery books under another name. He has said his nomination as court poet would not guarantee he'd write court poetry.

"I wouldn't be able to write court poetry," the 63-year-old laureate once said. "I'm not loyal to the royal family, but I couldn't write that sort of thing. You can only write things that move one."

Wednesday with occasional light snow. Warmer tonight, little temperature change Wednesday. Low tonight 10-20 except lower 20s extreme south.

SOUTHEAST OHIO — Light snow likely tonight and Wednesday. Low tonight around 20. Little temperature change Wednesday.

CENTRAL OHIO — Mostly cloudy and not so cold tonight with chance of light snow. Lows tonight 15-20. Wednesday cloudy with little temperature change and chance of light snow.

NORTHWEST OHIO — Cloudy tonight and Wednesday with intermittent light snow. Warmer tonight, not much change in temperature Wednesday. Low tonight 10-15.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Cloudy and not so cold with occasional light snow tonight becoming mixed at times with sleet or freezing drizzle probably causing slippery conditions south. Low tonight 16-23. Cloudy with occasional light snow and little change in temperature Wednesday.

Southern Cal Best, Coach Pont Claims After 14-3 Loss

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Southern California's O. J. Simpson achieved his dream of playing in the Rose Bowl and turned it into a nightmare for the Hoosiers of Indiana.

The All-America halfback scored both touchdowns as the Trojans captured the 54th annual classic 14-3 and cemented their hold on the national collegiate football championship.

Simpson gained 128 yards net

Anderson Leads Blues to Win

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Gray squad may do well to recruit a punt return specialist next year after what happened in the Blue-Gray football game Saturday.

The Blue won 22-16 because All America Dick Anderson of Colorado ran back two punts for touchdowns. It was that simple.

The Gray had a 15-9 edge in first downs and a 270-175 advantage in total offense. The Southerners did practically everything well enough to win except contain Anderson.

Tulsa Coach Glenn Dobbs of the Blues called Anderson's punt returns—of 62 and 69 yards—"the most tremendous I've ever seen."

Bulls Defeat Bullets, 109-103

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Chicago Bulls built up a whopping, 20-point lead in the third quarter, but had to stage a last minute revival to stand off Baltimore 109-103 in a National Basketball Association game Monday night.

In the only other NBA game, the St. Louis Hawks overwhelmed the Seattle SuperSonics 115-94 on the West Coast.

Dallas beat New Jersey 122-104 in the only American National Basketball Association game scheduled.

Peterson Offered Post with 49ers
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Bill Peterson, the football coach credited with helping Florida State University grid fans forget FSU was a girl's school less than 20 years ago, said Monday he will fly to California to talk about coaching the San Francisco 49ers.

According to published reports, Peterson has been offered a five-year contract as head coach at $50,000 a year. His earnings as chief Seminole coach have been estimated at $40,000 annually.

Berger Honored
BOSTON (AP) — Wally Berger, the old Boston Braves' slugger who played in the major leagues' first four All-Star games, will be honored at the 29th Boston baseball writers' dinner Jan. 24.

Jim Clark Wins Grand Prix Race
JOHANNESBURG (AP)—Jim Clark of Scotland has a leg up on the 1968 world driving championship and cherished record in his pocket.

Clark, driving a powerful Lotus Ford, won the South African Grand Prix Monday, first championship race of the 1968 Formula One series. And it was his 25th career victory in a Grand Prix, breaking his tie with Juan Manuel Fangio, the retired Argentine great, and putting him alone as the biggest winner of all time.

Canada Wins
WINNIPEG (AP) — Danny O'Shea's goal at 15:18 of the third period enabled Canada to edge Sweden 3-2 Monday in the opening game of Canada's World Hockey Tournament.

UCLA Still No. 1 In College Poll

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The old year tournaments and the new year Associated Press poll brought a revamping of college basketball's Top Ten and its unbeaten today except at the top where, year out, year in, UCLA and Houston remain 1-2.

The overpowering Bruins, 8-0, collected 36 first place votes and 269 points and the Cougars, 13-0, got the other No. 1 vote and 320 points as they strengthened their clique at the top with tournament victories.

The voting is done by sports writers and sportscasters throughout the country on a basis of 10 points for first place, nine for second, etc.

UCLA won its own Los Angeles Classic for the sixth straight time Saturday after routs over Minnesota, St. Louis and Wyoming for 42 consecutive triumphs. The Bruins topped Wyoming 104-75 in the title game. Houston, less impressive, then edged Bradley, Marquette and North Texas State 45-43 for the Rainbow Classic title in Honolulu.

Few changes are expected until the two powerhouses collided in Houston's Astrodome Jan. 20.

11 Schools Slated for TV Sectional

There will be 11 schools competing in the Teays Valley sectional of the Central District Class A tournament when play begins in late February.

Westfall and Logan Elm return to the TV sectional. Other schools are:

West Jefferson, Madison South, The Plains of Mt. Sterling, Ohio Deaf, Academy, St. Mary's, Bishop Wheeler, Amanda Clearcreek, and Canal Winchester.

Of the schools in the sectional, Canal Winchester is presently undefeated, Amanda Clearcreek and Westfall have lost one game each.

Andrea Voikos Wins Tennis Title
SALEM, Mass. (AP) — Andrea Voikos of Pawtucket, R.I., is the youngest champion in the 47-year history of the National Indoor Tennis Tournament's 18-and-under division.

Miss Voikos, who turned 14 in November, won the U.S. title during the weekend by upsetting top-seeded Connie Capozzi of Middletown, Ohio, 6-3, 7-5 at the North Shore Squash and Tennis Club.

Browns Set Practice For Playoff

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Cleveland Browns begin drills here today in preparation for the National Football League Playoff Bowl game against the Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

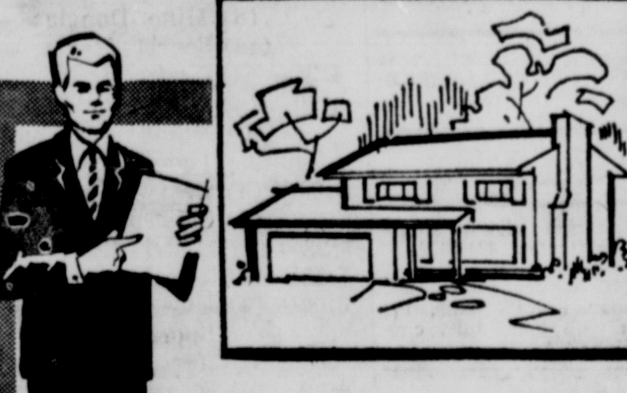

Today's agenda included a light loosening up session.

Art Modell, the Browns' president, arrived in the Miami area Monday. He and Coach Blanton Collier will remain here after the playoff bowl game to watch the Green Bay Packers play the Oakland Raiders in the Super Bowl here Jan. 14.

Modell and Collier will use next week for huddles to discuss possible changes at some of the Browns' positions.

The Rams beat the Browns in the exhibition season. They lost to Green Bay in the NFL's Western Conference playoff and ended the season with an 11-2 record.

The Browns had a 9-6 mark, including the rout by the Dallas Cowboys in the Eastern Conference playoff.

Area Schools Play League Cage Games

With the holidays over, area High Schools get down to the business of battling for league cage titles.

Circleville, with three losses in the South Central Ohio League, is virtually out of the race for the league title.

Friday the Tigers travel to Hillsboro. Saturday they host Bexley in a non-league contest.

Logan Elm faces the toughest weekend, playing at Laurelville Friday in a Scioto Valley Conference game and then traveling to Zane Trace Saturday to play the once-beaten Pioneers.

LAURELVILLE handed the Braves a 73-50 loss in the Zane Trace Holiday tournament.

Westfall is idle Friday night but on Saturday the Mustangs host Unioto in an SVC contest. Teays Valley hosts Reynoldsburg Friday in a Metropolitan League game. The Vikings have lost two in the league.

Laurelville, Westfall, Logan Elm and Unioto all are within reach of the SVC cage crown. The Mustangs and Braves are unbeaten in league play while the Wildcats' only loss has been to Unioto. Most of the SVC games are played after the first of the year.

North Carolina, 7-1, won the Far West Tournament with a 68-61 victory over Oregon Saturday and replaced Indiana in the third spot, a jump from fifth.

Vanderbilt's victory and 9-1 record pushed it from ninth to fourth while Kentucky, 7-1, moved up a notch to fifth with an 81-73 victory over Notre Dame in non-tournament play.

Tennessee, 6-1, lost its first game in the Los Angeles Classic and fell from fourth to sixth despite later victories over Southern California and then Utah State 85-66 Saturday in the tourney.

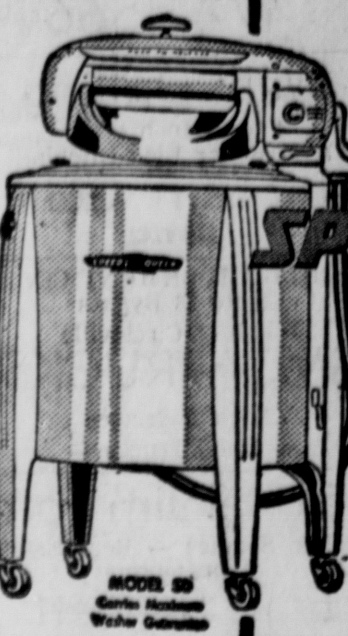

Utah, 10-1, was the third ranked team to lose for the first time, falling to North Carolina in the Far West Classic, but topped Washington State 85-78 Saturday in the tournament and retained its No. 7 ranking.

Several other teams received strong recognition in the voting after tournament victories. Columbia upset first Louisville and then St. John's 60-55 for the Holiday Festival crown; Nebraska took the Big Eight Tournament with a 66-62 decision over Kansas and Temple beat St. Francis, Pa., 83-77 for the Quaker City title.

Only a handful of games were played Monday night, with New Mexico pushing its record to 11-0 with an 87-76 victory over Denver.

Penn beat Boston University 75-56 and St. Joseph's, Pa., took

Brigham Young 88-74 in a doubleheader at Philadelphia. Mississippi State edged Florida 56-55 and Georgia topped Mississippi 70-64.	2. Houston (19)	320 in 25 carries as the speedy workhorse of the Trojan attack. "Southern California, with Simpson, is the national champion," declared Coach John Pont of Indiana. "You could give Simpson to some of the other teams we played and then they'd be the best."

O. J. turns his athletic talents to the running track on Friday night in an indoor meet in his San Francisco hometown but declared he plans to return to football and won't try for the U.S. Olympic team.

"He'll get better," was the pronouncement from USC Coach John McKay, who termed himself well pleased with his club's performance against the Big Ten representatives.

Southern California scored on their first series of plays, driving 84 yards in 13 plays as Simpson gained 38 in six carries, including the final two.

A fumble cost USC another first-half touchdown as Dan Scott lost the ball in the end zone. In the third period, Simpson gained 28 yards in four carries on a 45-yard touchdown advance. He burst the final eight as Ron Yary and Dennis Borne opened the hole for him.

Indiana's only points came on a 27 yard second-quarter field goal by Dave Kornowa.

McKay revealed the strategy for keeping Indiana from keying too much on Simpson, the 200-pound junior who runs the 100-yard dash in 9.4 seconds.

"We started passing on first down to get the linebackers out of there and gave the ball to Scott more than usual," the coach said. Scott contributed 85 yards in 18 carries as Simpson would swing wide as a decoy.

The Trojan coach also termed the defensive effort one of the best for this season as the winners contained quarterback Harry Gonso and halfback John Eisenbarger much of the afternoon.

Pont added, "We feel bad that we missed a couple of scoring opportunities and spent most of the rest of the game in bad field position. You just don't drive 75 or 80 yards for a touchdown against a team like Southern Cal."

From the leisure of a living room chair the Cotton Bowl, Sugar Bowl, Rose Bowl and Orange Bowl could be enjoyed from early afternoon into the evening.

It was below zero in Clarksburg, Mass. The wind was blowing and snow falling but six Berkshire County residents carried out a plan to camp out overnight to greet the new year.

Their celebration included hot dogs and champagne. The six, who had camped out together last summer, set up their tents, portable gas stoves and portable record players in Clarksburg State Park.

"It was kind of chilly, but we enjoyed it," said Mrs. James McClelland Monday. "We'd been planning it for a long time and so we did it."

Jacobs' talk will be centered on the school system.

Set Licenses To Give Drunk Tests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The first licenses for persons qualified to administer sobriety tests under Ohio's new law to crack down on drunken drivers are expected to be issued today by the State Department of Health.

Gov. James A. Rhodes signed a proclamation at 12:01 a.m. Monday providing for emergency regulations to put the new law into effect. It is one of several new state laws for drivers.

The emergency regulations will be in effect for 60 days until permanent rules are adopted.

Under the new law, drivers accused of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated must submit to a sobriety test or face automatic suspension of their driver's licenses for six months.

South Vietnamese Oust Newsmen

SAIGON (AP)—The South Vietnamese government has refused to renew the visa of Newsweek magazine's Saigon bureau chief, Everett Martin, and told him to leave the country within seven days.

The South Vietnamese government has been at odds with Martin for months because of Newsweek articles critical of the South Vietnamese army.

Trains Collide, Explode In Indiana; 236 Evacuate

DUNREITH, Ind. (AP)—Thunderous explosions from ammonia-filled tanker cars after two freight trains crashed forced a mass evacuation Monday night and set fire to two businesses and several homes.

All 236 residents of this east-central Indiana community were evacuated safely.

Three firemen and a policeman suffered minor injuries. The Butterfield Canning Co. plant and a service station were destroyed by flames, which also spread to 10 houses. Some empty migrant worker dwellings, officials said.

A westbound Pennsylvania Railroad train derailed and side-swiped an eastbound Pennsylvania freight. W.R. Sheets of Zionsville, brakeman on the westbound train, said he believed a rail broke under the 75th car of the 98-car train. Flames broke out almost immediately, he said.

Officials quickly removed townspeople from the danger area of the chemical-laden tankers.

Mrs. Mabel McGuire, who lives a half block from the accident scene, said one explosion "looked like the whole world was on fire."

"Our back door was blown off the hinges," she said. "There were a lot of small explosions and one big one that lit up the whole sky."

The blast was felt in areas 25 miles away. A pilot said the explosions shook his small plane as he flew over Dunreith, which is about 35 miles east of Indianapolis.

Traffic was rerouted from busy U.S. 40 which parallels the Pennsylvania main line through Dunreith. A motorist, William Will of Cambridge City, said he heard the crash and saw several freight cars rolling down the

Set Licenses To Give Drunk Tests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The first licenses for persons qualified to administer sobriety tests under Ohio's new law to crack down on drunken drivers are expected to be issued today by the State Department of Health.

Gov. James A. Rhodes signed a proclamation at 12:01 a.m. Monday providing for emergency regulations to put the new law into effect. It is one of several new state laws for drivers.

The emergency regulations will be in effect for 60 days until permanent rules are adopted.

Under the new law, drivers accused of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated must submit to a sobriety test or face automatic suspension of their driver's licenses for six months.

South Vietnamese Oust Newsmen

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government has refused to renew the visa of Newsweek magazine's Saigon bureau chief, Everett Martin, and told him to leave the country within seven days.

The South Vietnamese government has been at odds with Martin for months because of Newsweek articles critical of the South Vietnamese army.

Trains Collide, Explode In Indiana; 236 Evacuate

DUNREITH, Ind. (AP) — Thunderous explosions from ammonia-filled tanker cars after two freight trains crashed forced a mass evacuation Monday night and set fire to two businesses and several homes.

All 236 residents of this east-central Indiana community were evacuated safely.

Three firemen and a policeman suffered minor injuries.

The Butterfield Canning Co. plant and a service station were destroyed by flames, which also spread to 10 houses. Some were empty migrant worker dwellings, officials said.
